INVESTMENT STRATEGY HIGHLIGHTS:

The Investment Strategy is focused on the large-cap segment of the Canadian market. The Investment Strategy weights stocks according to their dividend yields, maximizing distributions to holders.

Investment Strategy: At the beginning of each calendar quarter, the top 20 dividend paying stocks in the S&P/TSX 60 Index whose pay-out ratios do not exceed 90% become the notional stock portfolio. The portfolio members are weighted according to indicated annual dividend yields.

- > The four stocks with the highest dividend yields as of the last day of the quarter are assigned a Portfolio weighting of 9% each.
- > The four stocks with the second highest dividend yields receive a weight of 7% each.
- > The four stocks with the third highest dividend yields receive a weight of 5% each.
- > The four stocks with the fourth highest dividend yields receive a weight of 3% each.
- > The four stocks with the fifth highest dividend yields receive a weight of 1% each.

An investment in the Debt Securities involves risks. An investment in the Debt Securities is not the same as a direct investment in the securities that comprise the Portfolio and investors have no rights with respect to the securities that comprise the Portfolio. The Debt Securities are considered to be "specified derivatives" under applicable Canadian securities laws. If you purchase Debt Securities, you will be exposed to changes in the Value of the Portfolio, among other factors. Price changes may be volatile and an investment in the Debt Securities may be considered to be speculative. Since the Debt Securities are not principal protected and the Principal Amount will be at risk, you could lose substantially all of your investment.

The Debt Securities are not fixed income securities and are not designed to be alternatives to fixed income or money market instruments. The Debt Securities are structured products that possess downside risk.

The initial estimated value of the Debt Securities set forth on the cover page of the applicable Pricing Supplement does not take into account the ongoing annual component of the Note Program Amount.
