STRATEGY HIGHLIGHTS:

Six Canadian bank stocks: Royal Bank of Canada, The Bank of Nova Scotia, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Bank of Montreal, The Toronto-Dominion Bank and National Bank of Canada.

Strategy: At the beginning of each calendar quarter, the weightings of each of the six bank stocks in the Portfolio are rebalanced to target weights based on the Indicated Annual Dividend Yields of each bank stock.

- > the two highest dividend yielders as of the last day of the calendar quarter will each receive 1/4 weight.
- > the two next highest dividend yielders will each receive 1/6 weight.
- > the two lowest dividend yielders will each receive 1/12 weight.

Information regarding historical return of capital payments may be accessed at www.rbcnotes.com

Tax Deferred: Quarterly RoC payments equal to Portfolio dividend yield. Taxable only at disposition or maturity.

The Debt Securities will not constitute deposits insured under the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation Act.

An investment in the Debt Securities involves risks. An investment in the Debt Securities is not the same as a direct investment in the securities that comprise the Portfolio and investors have no rights with respect to the securities in the Portfolio. The Debt Securities are considered to be "specified derivatives" under applicable Canadian securities laws. If you purchase Debt Securities, you will be exposed to fluctuations in interest rates and changes in the Value of the Portfolio, among other factors. Price changes may be volatile and an investment in the Debt Securities may be considered to be speculative. Since the Debt Securities are not principal protected and the Principal Amount will be at risk, you could lose substantially all of your investment.

The Debt Securities are not fixed income securities and are not designed to be alternatives to fixed income or money market instruments. The Debt Securities are structured products that possess downside risk.

The initial estimated value of the Debt Securities set forth on the cover page of the applicable Pricing Supplement does not take into account the ongoing annual component of the Note Program Amount.
